NOAC Approaches - Will You Be There?

If you have just joined the lodge, you may not have even heard about NOAC. If you are a seasoned member of the Order, you already know that NOAC, the National Order of the Arrow Conference, is the premier event for excitement, friendship building, and learning about the organization. If you had to compare the event to something more familiar, NOAC is to the Order of the Arrow as the National Jamboree is to Scouting.

food (and the food IS good at NOAC), and use all the facilities on campus: pools, gymnasiums, arenas, classrooms, etc. Much like attending a big school, you will have the opportunity to meet, mingle, and make friends with thousands of like-minded Arrowmen from all parts of the country. In 2002, there were 7,146 staff, participants, and guests representing 292 lodges in attendance.

If you have not been to NOAC before, allow me to describe what should entice you to pursue NOAC as one of your Scouting goals. You may need some help convincing mom and dad to help pay your way to attend the event, so share this article with them as a selling tool.

That's a lot of people, but "What kinds of things would I do at NOAC," you might ask. The answer is - a little bit of just about everything. If you like sports, air rifle, basketball, billiards, bowling, swimming, a 5k race, and TOAP (The Outdoor Adventure Place) featuring climbing and kayaking were available in 2002. Some people might also consider the amount of patch trading that goes on there a sport as well. If you are nonathletic, NOAC could be your first chance to experience the full workings of and life on a major college campus. You get to live in dorms, eat cafeteria

The Chiefs Corner

Who among us doesn't like reading Wolf's Tale? Every few months when we get one in the mail, aren't we all just a little excited to see if our names or maybe even our pictures made it into the lodge's nationally awarded publication? I know I still think its cool seeing my own stuff in the Wolf's Tale, and I've been in here more times than I can remember. But what if the Wolf's Tale just disappeared one day, and no one's stuff got in it? Well, that almost just happened. It's up to you to keep YOUR lodge's newsletters coming.

For the past few years, there have been dropping numbers of Wolf's Tale articles coming in to the publications committee, making it very difficult to make a decent newsletter. I want to stop this.

The most recent issue would have been nonexistent if Dave and Ryan wouldn't have gone beyond their responsibilities to get a good publication out to you, our lodge. After thinking about this for a while, my best guess as why this is happening is because everyone thinks that everyone else will write articles. Well, guys, that's just not the case. If you're a committee chairman, lodge officer, or clan chieftain, it is your OBLIGATION AND RESPONSIBILITY to keep the lodge informed about your committees, clans, and business, and what better way than a newsletter that goes to every single lodge member? Each one of you needs to take hold of the power that Wolf's Tale has, and use it to make the best of your term as a lodge leader. Get those articles, updates, and pictures in!

But wait. What if you're not a committee chairman, officer or chieftain? Who cares! You are just as important and just as much a member of our lodge as everyone else, and we want to hear from you! Write about anything you want; lodge functions, troop activities that deal with the OA, service weekend experiences, memories, goals, dreams, whatever! Wolf's Tale is the way to get your name out, and possibly become a lodge leader one day. Get those articles in!

In closing, Kittatinny 5 has always had one of the most successful lodge newsletters in the country, and we want to continue AND make better this tradition into the future. Special thanks to Dave, the lodge secretary, for taking care of the Wolf's Tale during it's times of crisis, and see you all in January!

Yours in Service,
Bobby
Chief

From the Vice Chief of Administration

Well the September weekend is now a little ways behind us and it's time to look ahead to the spring. Yes I know some of us would rather just sit around, watch football, and hang out with friends but amongst all those things we need to budget time for the OA. I know this may be hard but I think if everyone tries to do it we will have an April weekend like none before.

Like always, we as the LEC (Lodge Executive Committee) are looking for ideas to make the weekends as great as they can be. That is where YOU come in. Hey, if your not real active, just call up the Activities Committee, the Ceremonies Committee, or really any of the committees and I'm sure they would love to have you help. Without the help of everyone, a weekend just doesn't happen.

I want everyone to think of the difference between 99% and 100%. One might say that there's not much of a difference at all. Well doctors in the United States would drop about 110 babies per day in the delivery room, $41 million of orders would be wrong in McDonalds across the United States every month, and 27 newspaper chains will not distribute newspapers each week. Fortunately for all of us, these things do not happen because people are giving a 100% effort at what they do.

So I'd like to ask each one of, have you dropped - I mean are you doing your best to help the lodge?

1st Vice Chief
Alex Hafer

Communication

I was absolutely humbled, walking out my Philadelphia dorm in the crisp fall air, as I noticed all the satellite dishes and antennas around. The amount of communication, and potential for it, is absolutely immense.

What am I trying to say?

The ability to communicate with people regardless of distance is so much easier now than ever!

We need to follow the example of our chief, as he calls his chairmen and vice chiefs every week. We as a lodge need to communicate our wishes to the officers and chairman. What would YOU like to see on an OA weekend?

Communication problem?

I don't want to bug the chief or the Vice Chiefs with a call. These guys have lives too!

NOT A PROBLEM AT ALL

I'm definitely sure that our officers would be more than happy to take time out of their day to talk to anyone about their ideas. Remember they are only 10 telephone digits away! OR You could e-mail any one of our officers and chairmen from kittatinny5.org! So go ahead let 'em know what YOU want. THEY want to know.

-Josh Abramowicz

From Activities

It's that time again! Time for what you ask? Time to plan out the April and May weekends!!!

So, as your friendly neighborhood activities chairman, I invite you to call, or e-mail me (at activities@kittatinny5.org) to offer any ideas for themes that you'd like to see at your weekends. That's right, they're YOUR weekends. If you've got any idea for themes or games or anything, just tell me and we'll see if we can make it happen.

The ideas we've got so far are to either do a 60s/80s or some era of music theme, where you could dress up like your favorite rocker. Also, we were thinking of possibly a TV theme where you could dress up like your favorite TV character. Our ideas are still in the works, and that's why we need YOUR input. Thanks.

Brotherhood Chairman

Thank you everyone who has helped the Brotherhood committee over the past year in reviewing the Brotherhood candidates. Congratulations to all the people who have taken their Brotherhood review over this past year, whether it was at the April, May, or September weekends, Brotherhood Day, or summer camp.

Over the winter months, if you know of anyone who hasn't sealed their membership in the OA by taking their Brotherhood review, encourage them to take it this coming year. There are many opportunities for reviewing. If someone can't make Cracker Barrels—During the September Weekend, Batman and Spider man decided to stop by and take part in our theme cracker barrel. These theme cracker barrels have become a loved tradition in Kittatinny Lodge 5. Make sure to send in your ideas for a Cracker Barrel theme to the Activities chairman.

one weekend, there's plenty other times.

Whether or not we make honor lodge again, all depends on YOU. Without you, we wouldn't meet the requirement. So if you want Kittatinny 5 to make honor lodge again, encourage everyone you know that is eligible for Brotherhood to take their review sometime the Year 2004. Any questions, feel free to email me at the following address: brotherhood@kittatinny5.org

From the Lodge Advisor

The long cold winter is on the way but that doesn't mean you should hibernate. The watchwords of the Order are leadership and service and there is no better time to put them into action.

Remember that your first allegiance is to your troop! Do you have younger Scouts who could benefit from your leadership experience? I'm sure you do. Now is the time to work with your Scoutmaster and Patrol Leaders council to set up a Junior leader training program for your troop or a least a patrol leader training program.

Setting the example of leadership in your troop is important to the troop and the OA. As one grows so does the other and both become stronger as a result?

I mentioned service as the other watchword of the Order. It is perhaps the most personally fulfilling thing you can do. Nothing can compare with the satisfaction you get from helping others and only your imagination limits you.

Service to the troop first but make sure to expand those contacts within the Order. We always need youth and adults to help serve on lodge committees!

Right now our most critical needs are in Publications and Webelos crossover ceremonies. Anyone with a desire to help in these areas should go directly to the list of chairman on the back page and call them NOW!

Publications require some computer skills but training is available to responsible and dependable brothers who are interested.

The crossover ceremonies give you the opportunity to experience the emotion of a ceremony in whatever level of involvement you desire. There is no better experience than watching the faces of the Cubs as you conduct the ceremony. They are fascinated, you have some great experiences, and Scouting as a whole benefits.

Actually all of you should be checking out the committee list on the last page! Pick up the phone and call the chairman of the committee that interests you the most.

This is your lodge and you get out what you put in, so benefit yourself as well as the lodge and get involved. Don't be a taker - BE A GIVER.

Yours in Scouting
Roger Mory

FROM FLOW...

As an old wolf who's been around for a long time, I've seen many people come and go in our lodge. Now that winter has set in, I've had lots of time to sit by my fire and contemplate all the happenings of the lodge recently.

I'm proud to say that we have a dedicated group of youth leading our lodge — your hard working officers and committee chairmen. On the same foot, though, I've noticed that our dedicated group of youth has been getting smaller. The same arrowmen have been active for years and there haven't been many new youth to step up and take their places. This is especially troublesome for some of our committees with only a chairman and no committee members.

When the chairman moves on, we're stuck with no experienced leaders to fill their shoes. So, for this month's message, I encourage the younger youth of the lodge to get actively involved in a committee. Learn the ropes. Take our traditions to heart. Then, when our current leaders must move on, you'll be ready to take their places.

You are the future leaders of the lodge, so start preparing today. The best place to start is at an Executive Committee meeting this winter. I'll be there.... Will you?

(Fiesty Red Fox)

The Vigil went off without a hitch, but this was mainly with the help of all our vigil members. THANK YOU ALL. There is, however, someone who needs to be thanked above all, and that is Dusty Stitzer. Dusty both advised the committee and guided this year. He helped me and poured a tremendous amount of work into the vigil. Thank you Dusty.

Conclave 2004 "Treasure the Spirit"

Attention all arrowmen! It's time to register for Conclave 2004! For those of you that don't know, conclave is when all of the lodges in our section get together and participate in various competitions, patch trading, and fellowship with other arrowmen outside of Kittatinny 5.

Conclave 2004 will be hosted by Witauchsoman Lodge 44 at Camp Minsi. This year's theme is "Treasure the Spirit," and with that, Witauchsoman has chosen a "pirate" theme. Dust off your peg leg, put on your eye patch, and get that parrot on your shoulder, cause it's going to be some swashbuckling fun!

How much would you pay for a chance to have a "pirate" adventure? How's $50 sound? Too much? OK how about $40? Still too much? Well you're in luck this trip is only going to cost you $27.00. Now that's a deal! So fill out those forms today, and get ready for a great time.

Please use the form located on the back the Wolf's Tale to register for conclave 2004. If you have any questions, or would like more information, please feel free to contact me at conclave@kittatinny5.org.

Yours in the Brotherhood
Adam Uhrich

you can participate in or simply enjoy the NOAC chorus, NOAC band, help produce the daily NOAC newspaper or web site, or compete in the camp promotion, web site, or ceremonies contests. Perhaps you are into Native American customs. You will have the opportunity to watch or compete in fantastic competitions featuring top-notch signing, dancing, and regalia, as well as some of the best ceremonies competitions ever. If learning more about the order of the Arrow is your primary goal, there are courses offered by some of the best presenters across the country on subjects ranging from induction principles to conducting better elections, how to manage your lodge, transitioning from youth to adult roles in the OA, or how to make ceremonies better. There are many more courses to choose from, so there is sure to be something for everyone. If simply hanging out and having fun are your thing, there's plenty of time and places for that too. Founder's

Day features local cuisine from lodges across the country. There are also Barbecues, ice cream socials, game shows, and the OA museum. If shows are your thing, NOAC has them. From the grand opening arena show, to the Native American dance show, to the keynote theme show and the fantastic closing show, you will be entertained almost daily, and the shows will move you and inspire you. There is nothing like hearing the song of the Order sung by 7,000 Arrowmen!

OK, so there are lots of Arrowmen, and lots to do there, but beyond that, it is an opportunity to get to know your Brothers better, to build life-lasting friendships, to commit yourself to the principles you swore to when you joined the Order, and to see what a high ideals you are capable of achieving when you surround yourself with the positive influence of like-minded youth and adults, some of whom are experts in their fields. Kittatinny has produced a National Vice-Chief of the National Order of the Arrow. If you go and see what a great time

NOAC is, you may very well be inspired to reach that lofty goal yourself . . . or beyond!

NOAC will be held at the University of Iowa from July 31-Aug 5. Our departure and return dates may vary by a day or two, and we will be flying to NOAC this year. To reserve your spot with the Kittatinny NOAC Contingent, it is important that you register as early as possible so you don't miss information. A sign-up form is found in this issue, as well as on-line and at the Council Service Center. If you have questions, contact the Conference-Conclave committee chairman, a lodge officer, or the lodge or staff adviser ... or ask someone who has already been there.

If you would like to read a little more about NOAC 2004 or see what NOAC 2002 was like, head to the web and aim for <http://www.oa-bsa.org>.

Yours in Brotherhood & Cheerfulness,
Glenn Piper (NOAC Attendee: 1990, 1992, 20??)

2004 National Order of the Arrow Conference University of Iowa

Reserve your spot now for attending the 2004 National Order of the Arrow Conference (NOAC) to be held July 31 Aug 5, 2004 at the University of Iowa. Kittatinny will be flying to the event, and the estimated cost of the trip will be about $1,000.00. A deposit of $100.00 is required to hold your spot.

NOAC is a week-long experience full of training, fun, fellowship, sure to inspire you and raise your awareness of what the OA offers and how it can serve both you and Scouting. It is a jamboree-like event for Arrowmen only, and you will live on a major college campus and have full access to many of the facilities there to help you have the time of your life.

The Thrill of Being in a Ceremony

I always thought ceremonies were really cool, and I admired the guys in them because they did so well. I realized this when I had an OA ceremony for my Eagle Court of Honor. I thought it would be so cool to be in one of them, all dressed up in regalia.

When I got my first ceremonies part, Ordeal Allowat, I was ecstatic. But then I started to worry, what if I do this wrong? What if I can't remember? If these questions are holding you back from a ceremonies part, don't let them. The ceremonies committee will help you.

As I dressed up for the Ordeal ceremony in September, I was very nervous. I knew my part, but I doubted myself, saying, what if I forget? Well, to make a long story short, I didn't. The ceremony went fairly well. After my first short speech, I began to forget that so many people were watching me, and it felt great.

Every time I spoke, I was thrilled because I was in a ceremony. Once we were done, as we were closing the lodge, I couldn't help but to think one down, many more to go.

Yours in the Order,
Dan Althouse
